Color photographs are not permitted unless the invention cannot be illustrated by black and white ink drawings.

Color photographs and color drawings are not accepted unless a petition filed under 37 CFR 1.84(a)(2) is granted. Any such petition must be accompanied by the appropriate fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(h), three sets of color drawings or color photographs, as appropriate, and, unless already present, an amendment to include the following language as the first paragraph of the brief description of the drawings section of the specification:

The patent or application file contains at least one drawing executed in color. Copies of this patent or patent application publication with color drawing(s) will be provided by the Office upon request and payment of the necessary fee.

Color photographs will be accepted if the conditions for accepting color drawings and black and white photographs have been satisfied. See 37 CFR 1.84(b)(2).

Claims 1-2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. The scanned photographic drawings were illegible inasmuch as they were too dark to enable the examiner to see any details whatsoever of the vise grip foot. The description cannot be clearly understood since they are based on the drawings. One skilled in the art would be unable to make or use the device based on such an illegible set of drawings.

Claims 1-2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

A claim is a single sentence with a period at the end. Claim 1 has (4) four periods and is therefor an improper claim. In claim 1, line 3 the phrase "drilled-out" is vague and indefinite. Further, in line 5 the recitation that a rivet is replaced with a bolt is not understood.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Pongratz.

Insofar as the claims can be understood Pongratz shows all of the claimed features. Figure 5 of Pongratz shows a vise grip with a modified foot 50 that has been machined and has a washer like member 55 mounted on the foot such that the washer can engage a bushing-like object to be pressed into a vehicle. The type of bushing-like object to be pressed has no patentable significance. In any case the Pongratz tool is seen to be capable of performing the recited intended use since vehicle hinge bushings exist in a variety of sizes and one vehicle hinge bushing could be found that would be commensurate with the size of the washer like member 55 of Pongratz.

Further, recitations as to how the tool was manufactured such as by the replacement of the rivet with a bolt or that a part was "drilled-out" has no patentable significance insofar as the completed tool per se is concerned.
